

Saturday, June 2, 2007, 11:00 am
The Georgia Renaissance Festival

Website: <http://www.georgiarennaissancefestival.com/>

Location: 6905 Virlyn B Smith Rd
Fairburn, GA 30213

Hosts: Chuck and Lori Dorrington
(404-202-8498)
Pat McGinnis
(678-429-6978)

*Meet just inside the festival (after you have paid to enter)

RSVP: RSVP on Evite by clicking here.

Cost: $16.95 at the gate; discount tickets available online at:
<http://www.georgiarennaissancefestival.com/ordertickets.php>

Details:

The Georgia Renaissance Festival returns for its 19th year of merriment! Time travel back to the 16th Century, where the good life was festive, fun and the parking was free! The Renaissance Festival is a medieval amusement park, a 12-stage theatre, a 15-acre arts and crafts festival, a jousting tournament and a feast - all rolled into one non-stop daylong adventure! You can shop for unique treasures in over 150 artisan shops, feast on one of the 40-tons of turkey legs sold annually, and frolic with a cast of nearly 1,000 colorfully costumed characters. It's a one-of-a-kind Georgia festival and a whole lot of fun!

If you arrive late and miss the group departure (we will meet just inside the gate after you have paid to enter), Chuck & Lori will carry their cell phone to aid in gathering everyone - so take the number with you!

Directions:

- Go 8 miles South of Hartsfield Airport on I-85 at Exit 61.
- If you are travelling South on I-85 from Atlanta, turn Right at Exit 61.
- Go 2 miles, and you will see the Festival entrance on the Right.

For customized directions from Mapquest, click here.