Description: "Dinner at Seven" is a monthly social event designed to help club members become better acquainted. This will be a perfect opportunity to make new friends and reconnect with old ones. Club members will gather in the restaurant bar at 6:45pm; group seating will be reserved for 7:00pm. Participants will be responsible for the cost of their meal and beverages; separate checks will be requested.

Review: Everybody's Pizza has been in business since 1971, and for good reason. By keeping their menu simple and focused, they've managed to develop a loyal customer base over the years. Everybody's pizza crust is of the chewy, thick variety, which might be offensive to pizza purists but is my personal preference; if you like a traditional thin crust, it is available upon request. There are over 30 pizza toppings available, including unique selections like honey roasted garlic, sesame seeds, herb roasted chicken, and goat cheese. Pizzas range in price from a simple cheese individual pizza for $4.20, up to $22.05 for a four topping large pizza. In addition to the full bar, Everybody's has a beer and wine list, and usually has beer by the pitcher specials. There is a tiny parking lot behind the restaurant, but for the most part, diners will have to find a space on one of the nearby side streets.

Directions:

The restaurant is in the heart of Virginia Highlands near the intersection of N. Highland and Virginia Avenues; there are many ways to get there. Here is the easiest:

- Head into the city on I-75 (North or South bound)
- Take exit 248C (Freedom Pkwy NE/GA-10 E) toward the Carter Center
- Turn right at Ponce de Leon Ave
- Turn left at N Highland Ave
- The restaurant will be on your right after you cross the intersection at Virginia Ave (about 0.07 mile)
