Restaurant Review: Just down the road from the Perimeter Mall, this is the first Southeast link in this fresh seafood chain founded in Portland, Ore. The interior is finished with polished Southern pine and stained-glass panels, and a verandah overlooks a small, manmade lake. The menu changes twice daily, depending on what is fresh: king salmon from Alaska, petrale sole from Oregon, Manila clams from Puget Sound, halibut from Kodiak Island, tilapia from Costa Rica. The kitchen retains the natural flavors of each selection. Note: Try not to overdo with the savory bread basket. Desserts include an all-pro crème brûlée, Key lime pie and cherry cobbler. The expansive bar features a wide assortment of microbrews, spirits, wines and single-malt Scotches.
